

The City of Anaheim is excited to present an overview of nearly 20 city parks that will be enhanced in the upcoming year. We believe that recreational play space helps to promote the overall social health of our community of more than 346,000 residents. As part of the City's commitment to improving its neighborhoods and creating more parks and open spaces, there are a wide variety of planned park features that help address the diverse space needs of our community.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

How were these parks selected?

The City's Community Services Department compiles a list of aging infrastructure throughout the park system that is in need of replacement. The list is then used to select high-priority projects and match them with available funding. City staff also works closely with the residents to identify parks in need of major upgrades. The City also collaborates with owners of surrounding land to determine new opportunities to enrich the existing park system.

Where does the funding for these park enhancements come from?

Park enhancements are funded by grants and from park development fees – which are collected from the developers when a new housing development is constructed. These park development fees are calculated using a formula structured in accordance with a State law, called the Quimby Act, that was established in 1975. Additionally, the Community Services Department aggressively pursues grant funding from federal, state, and private sources to help fund new park amenities. Your tax dollars, also known as General Fund dollars, are used to maintain our more than 50 city parks in Anaheim.

How does the City determine the next set of parks that will receive park upgrades?

Using the same criteria for how these parks were selected, future park improvements will be prioritized based on several factors which include: community needs, conditions of existing park system, and funding availability.

I have a small park in my neighborhood, where can I find a nearby park that offers classes/activities?

The City of Anaheim has a great tool to help you and your family find the parks and services in your neighborhood. The My Community Resource Map lets you search your neighborhood for parks, other City facilities, and non-profit service providers in your area that offer the amenities you may be looking for, such as: skate park, tennis courts, community center, etc.

Who can I contact if I have feedback or suggestions for a park that I feel needs to be enhanced?

Your feedback is important to us, and we believe the community is one of the best sources for determining what park enhancements would work for your neighborhood's needs. We encourage you to fill out the comment box online at anaheim.net/parkupgrades or contact us directly at 714-765-5155.

How can I learn more about, and become more involved with my community?

The Community Services Department hosts a series of District Neighborhood Council meetings throughout the year, where residents can get to know their neighbors and learn about what is happening in their community. City staff members are available to speak directly with residents at these free meetings. Meetings are held in the west, east, central and south districts of the City and are open to the public and everyone is welcome to participate. Neighborhood Councils bring people together, provide useful information and help you find ways to participate in your community!
