INVESTMENT ACTIVITIES

The City Treasurer's Investment Portfolio has a current rating of "AAF" from Standard and Poor's (S&P). This rating was effective August 8, 2011, as a result of the action of S&P downgrading the debt issues of the United States Treasury and Federal Agencies from a credit rating of "AAA" to "AA+". The credit rating reflects the investment holdings of the City's Investment Portfolio (approximately 48% of funds in Federal Agency issues) and not the management of the investment fund.

It should be pointed out the downgrade in credit rating is the sole action of Standard and Poor’s, since the other two major national credit firms of Moody’s Investor Services and Fitch Ratings have maintained the “AAA” credit rating on all U.S. Treasury and Federal Agency debt issues. Even with the credit downgrade to the investment portfolio, the investment portfolio is still eligible and qualifies as a ‘permitted investment’ for City bond funds (i.e., project or acquisition funds).

This credit rating is for the City’s investment portfolio and does NOT reflect the credit rating of the City’s bond issues.

On August 11, 2008, the City of Anaheim’s Investment Policy was recognized and certified by the Association of Professional Treasurers of the United States and Canada (APT US&C) as meeting all standards and criteria established by the APT US&C.

INVESTMENT ENVIRONMENT:

The month of February 2014 saw interest rates unchanged from January 2014. The effects of severe weather over most of the nation and no significant economic news provided a calm tone over the financial markets along with a slight action of ‘flight to safety’ in lieu of increased volatility in the equity markets. The calm may be short term in duration as we move into Spring and increased international tensions between Russia and the Ukraine in the Crimea region. The U.S. Treasury 3 month bill closed February at 0.05%, up 0.03% (3 basis points) from its January 2014 close of 0.02%; the U.S. Treasury 2 year Note closed February at 0.67%, unchanged from the prior month level of 0.67% and the 5 year U.S. TNote finished February at 1.50%, up 0.01% from the January close of 1.49%. The longer maturities showed a similar lack of movement, with the benchmark 10 year U.S. Treasury Note closing at 2.65%, unchanged from the January 2014 level of 2.65%.

The lower yields are surprising in lieu of the Federal Reserve action to begin “tapering” the purchases of long term securities from approximately $85 billion per month to $75 billion per month and a further action announced in January to again reduce projected monthly purchases by another $10 billion.

The Federal Reserve continues to monitor the economic data to maintain the modest growth and sustain the overall recovery from the “Great Recession” of 2008. The January 29, 2014 Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) meeting continues to keep the benchmark Federal Funds rate at 0 to 0.25% with the language assessment changing to a ‘focus’ on “Growth”. The Federal Reserve lowered the Federal Funds rate to this historically low level at their December 2008 FOMC meeting. The Federal Funds rate is the interest rate that banks lend to each other to maintain their capital values and positions.

The chart below shows the interest rates for U.S. Treasury issues for the month ending February 2014:

A key economic indicator watched by investors is the national unemployment rate, which tends to show the overall health of the national economy. For the month of February 2014, the national unemployment rate was reported at 6.7%, up 0.1% from the January 2014 value of 6.6%. The twelve month average is at 7.2%, which is significantly lower from the December 2011 level of 8.5%, however, economists are divided as to whether the reduction in unemployment is the result of people being employed or are simply not looking any longer, which removes them from the unemployed survey.

The unemployment rate is considered a “lagging” economic indicator and does not reflect immediate or current financial and economic events. The unemployment rate does indicate the level of idle workers as a percentage of the overall labor force. The chart below shows the national unemployment rate for the past twelve months:

Source: U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics

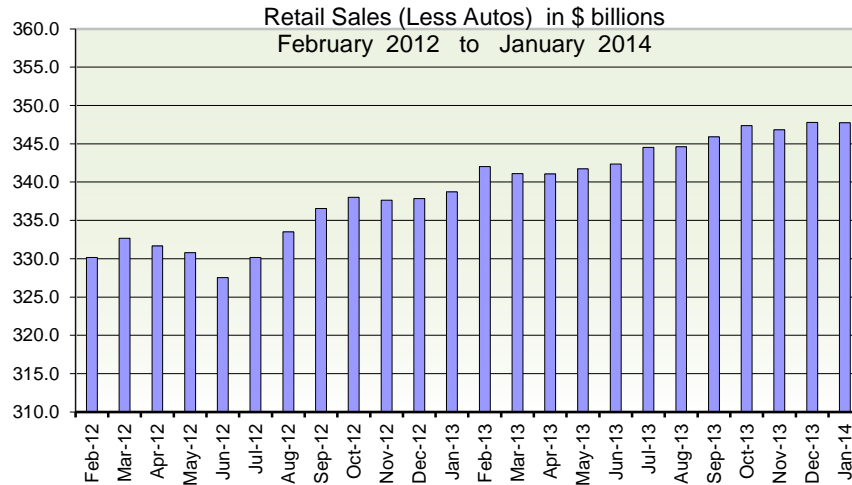

A more accurate gauge of the employment sector and the improving economy is the amount of jobs being created. The Bureau of Labor Statistics publishes monthly the value of US Employees on nonfarm payrolls, which is an indication of how the corporate or business sector is hiring. For the month of February 2014, the nonfarm payroll number was reported to be 175,000 new jobs created, somewhat higher than expectations. For comparison, the January 2014 value was revised slightly upward to 129,000 new jobs from the previous value of 113,000. The annual (twelve month average) value with the revised values shows approximately 180,000 monthly new jobs are being created, which is the minimum value of 180,000 new monthly jobs that economists have said are needed to show sustained economic growth. It should be noted the nonfarm payroll values are subject to seasonal variations and revisions, making an analysis of a distinct trend in this indicator difficult at times. The chart below shows the nonfarm payroll values for the past two years:

Source: U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics

Another economic factor we watch is the monthly Retail Sales (less Autos), which measures the level of consumer spending and provides an indication of the underlying vitality of the overall national economy. At the time this report was prepared, the February 2014 data were not available. The month of January 2014 value showed an annualized retail sales value of $347.7 billion, down from the December 2013 value of $347.8 billion, for a month over month percentage change of 0.0%. The annualized increase, year to year, showed a percentage increase of 2.7%. The lack of increase in the January 2014 value may have been impacted by the severe weather that most of the nation was experiencing during the month. It is estimated that consumer spending accounts for over sixty five percent of economic activity, so an increase in retail sales can indicate expanding economic activity. The chart below shows the monthly increase in consumer spending for the past twenty four months:

INVESTMENT PERFORMANCE:

The City’s investment portfolio remains strongly diversified and invested in high credit quality issues of U.S. Treasuries, Federal Agencies, Medium Term Corporate Notes and high grade commercial paper. Investments in money market accounts are restricted to U.S. Treasury and Federal Agencies only and a review of the State of California Local Agency Investment Fund (LAIF) shows high levels of liquidity and safe investments. The City’s investment strategy continues to focus on safety and providing liquidity for the City’s operational requirements.

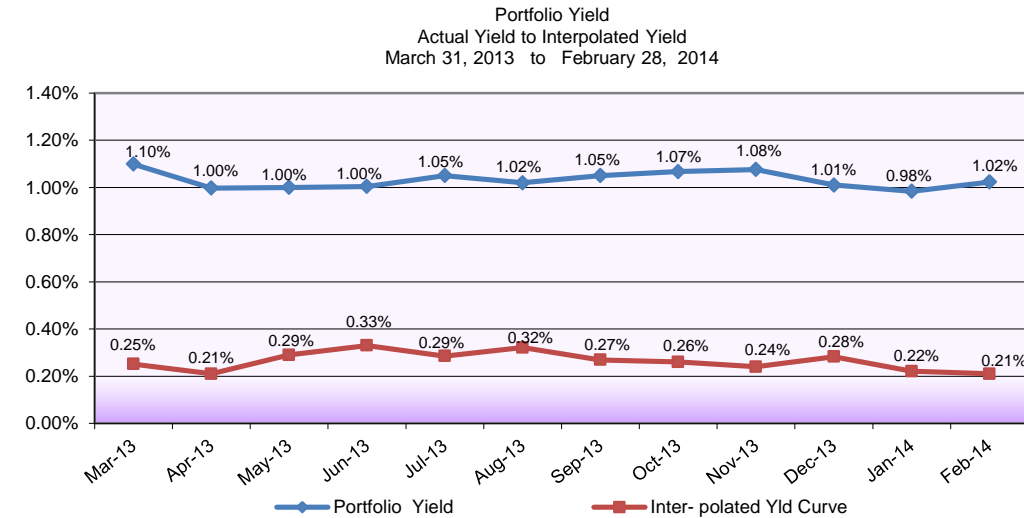

For February 28, 2014, the City Treasurer’s Investment Portfolio performance was:

	Amount of Funds (Market Value)	Maturity	Effective Yield	Interpolated Yield	Total Return Monthly	Total Return Annual
Short-Term Portfolio	$ 131,552,682	20 days	0.18 %	0.05 %	0.012	0.194
Long-Term Portfolio	$ 300,973,013	2.3 years	1.39 %	0.43 %	0.165	0.524
Total Portfolio	$ 432,525,695	1.6 years	1.02 %	0.21 %	0.114	0.444

The portfolio balance includes a deposit for the acquisition funds of the 2011A Electric Bonds of $20,910,801.00 as of the January 31, 2014 bond fund report balance. As a credit rated portfolio of “AA”, we are recognized as a permitted investment by the bond indenture of the above bonds. These funds enjoy the advantage of superior market rates of return in a historically low interest rate environment.

Please note the use of interpolated yield values and total return values are guidelines and not used in the performance evaluation of the portfolio. The investment of public funds is exposed to a large range of variable factors, such as increases or decreases in revenues and expenditures as well as seasonal timing, which can affect the cash flow of the City.

The City’s investment portfolio continues to provide above market rates of return on funds invested as shown in the following graph which shows the City’s net overall performance to a market indicator for the past twelve months:

The interpolated yield curve value of 0.21% reflects the current market interest rates comparable to the City’s Investment Portfolio average weighted maturity of 1.6 years as of February 28, 2014. As shown, the City’s Investment Portfolio interest earnings were 1.02% for February, a monthly approximate dollar earnings of $293,036 over market interest rates. Cumulative earnings for the City portfolio earnings over market interest rates for the past twelve months are approximately $3,401,960.

A complete listing of the portfolio holdings and investment activity for the City of Anaheim’s Investment Portfolio for the month of February 2014 is on the following pages.

IMPACT ON BUDGET:

There is no budgetary impact. Interest income is allocated in various funds based on the performance of the Investment Portfolio.

Respectfully submitted,

Henry W. Stern, CTP
 City Treasurer
