INVESTMENT ACTIVITIES

The City Treasurer's Investment Portfolio has a current credit rating of "AAf" from Standard and Poor's (S&P). This rating was effective August 8, 2011, as a result of the action of S&P downgrading the debt issues of the United States Treasury and Federal Agencies from a credit rating of "AAA" to "AA+". The credit rating reflects the investment holdings of the City's Investment Portfolio (approximately 53% of funds in Federal Agency issues) and not the management of the investment fund.

It should be pointed out the downgrade in credit rating is the sole action of Standard and Poor's, since the other two major national credit firms of Moody's Investor Services and Fitch Ratings have maintained the "AAA" credit rating on all U.S. Treasury and Federal Agency debt issues. Even with the credit downgrade to the investment portfolio, the investment portfolio is still eligible and qualifies as a 'permitted investment' for City bond funds (i.e., project or acquisition funds).

This credit rating is for the City's investment portfolio and does NOT reflect the credit rating of the City's bond issues.

On August 11, 2008, the City of Anaheim's Investment Policy was recognized and certified by the Association of Professional Treasurers of the United States and Canada (APT US&C) as meeting all standards and criteria established by the APT US&C.

INVESTMENT ENVIRONMENT:

The month of March 2014 saw interest rates move higher from the February 2014 yields. Tensions in the Crimea region between Russia and Ukraine place the European markets in stress, with the International Monetary Fund (IMF), lender to sovereign financial systems, attempting to prop up the Ukrainian economy with additional funds. This action caused a rise in overall interest rates, particularly with debt maturities from two to ten years. The U.S. Treasury 3 month bill closed March at 0.03%, down 0.02% (2 basis points) from its February 2014 close of 0.05%; however, the U.S. Treasury 2 year Note closed March at 0.42%, up 0.10% from the prior month level of 0.32% and the 5 year U.S. TNote finished March at 1.72%, up 0.22% from the February close of 1.50%. The longer maturities showed a less dramatic shift, with the benchmark 10 year U.S. Treasury Note closing at 2.72%, up only 0.07% from the February 2014 level of 2.65%.

The lower yields are surprising in lieu of the Federal Reserve action to begin "tapering" the purchases of long term securities from approximately $85 billion per month to currently $65 billion per month and a further action announced in March to again reduce projected monthly purchases by another $10 billion. The Federal Reserve has indicated the total purchases of long-term securities could end by the fourth quarter of 2014.

The Federal Reserve continues to monitor the economic data to maintain the modest growth and sustain the overall recovery from the "Great Recession" of 2008. The March 19, 2014 Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) meeting continues to keep the benchmark Federal Funds rate at 0 to 0.25% with the language assessment changing to a 'focus' on "Growth". This was the first meeting for the new chairman, Janet Yellen. The Federal Reserve lowered the Federal Funds rate to this historically low level at their December 2008 FOMC meeting. The Federal Funds rate is the interest rate that banks lend to each other to maintain their capital values and positions.

The chart below shows the interest rates for U.S. Treasury issues for the month ending March 2014:

A key economic indicator watched by investors is the national unemployment rate, which tends to show the overall health of the national economy. For the month of March 2014, the national unemployment rate was reported at 6.7%, unchanged from February 2014. The twelve month average is at 7.1%, which is significantly lower from the December 2011 level of 8.5%, however, economists are divided as to whether the reduction in unemployment is the result of people being employed or are simply not looking any longer, which removes them from the unemployed survey.

The unemployment rate is considered a “lagging” economic indicator and does not reflect immediate or current financial and economic events. The unemployment rate does indicate the level of idle workers as a percentage of the overall labor force. The chart below shows the national unemployment rate for the past twelve months:

Source: U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics

A more accurate gauge of the employment sector and the improving economy is the amount of jobs being created. The Bureau of Labor Statistics publishes monthly the value of US Employees on nonfarm payrolls, which is an indication of how the corporate or business sector is hiring. For the month of March 2014, the nonfarm payroll number was reported to be 192,000 new jobs created, somewhat higher than expectations. For comparison, the February 2014 value was revised upward to 197,000 new jobs from the previous reported value of 175,000. The annual (twelve month average) value with the revised values shows approximately 187,000 monthly new jobs are being created, which is above the minimum value of 180,000 new monthly jobs that economists have said are needed to show sustained economic growth. It should be noted the nonfarm payroll values are subject to seasonal variations and revisions, making an analysis of a distinct trend in this indicator difficult at times. The chart below shows the nonfarm payroll values for the past two years:

Source: U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics

Another economic factor we watch is the monthly Retail Sales (less Autos), which measures the level of consumer spending and provides an indication of the underlying vitality of the overall national economy. At the time this report was prepared, the March 2014 data were not available. The month of February 2014 value showed an annualized retail sales value of $347.2 billion, up from the January 2014 value of $346.3 billion, for a month over month percentage change of 0.3%. The annualized increase, year to year, showed a percentage increase of 1.5%. The small increase in reported values may have been impacted by the severe weather that most of the nation was experiencing during the month. It is estimated that consumer spending accounts for over sixty five percent of economic activity, so an increase in retail sales can indicate expanding economic activity. The chart below shows the monthly increase in consumer spending for the past twenty four months:

INVESTMENT PERFORMANCE:

The City’s investment portfolio remains strongly diversified and invested in high credit quality issues of U.S. Treasuries, Federal Agencies, Medium Term Corporate Notes and high grade commercial paper. Investments in money market accounts are restricted to U.S. Treasury and Federal Agencies only and a review of the State of California Local Agency Investment Fund (LAIF) shows high levels of liquidity and safe investments. The City’s investment strategy continues to focus on safety and providing liquidity for the City’s operational requirements.

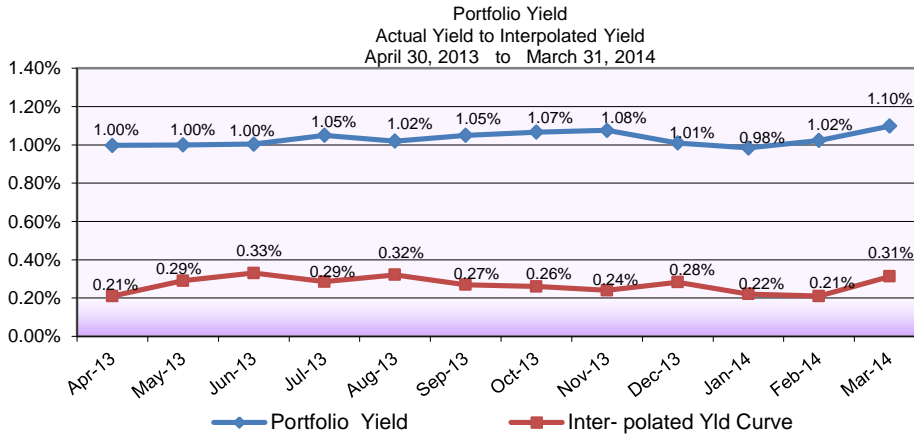

For March 31, 2014, the City Treasurer’s Investment Portfolio performance was:

	Amount of Funds (Market Value)	Maturity	Effective Yield	Interpolated Yield	Total Return Monthly	Total Return Annual
Short-Term Portfolio	$ 100,319,655	11 days	0.18 %	0.02 %	0.013	0.187
Long-Term Portfolio	$ 322,055,363	2.4 years	1.39 %	0.56 %	-0.203	0.210
Total Portfolio	$ 422,375,018	1.9 years	1.10 %	0.31 %	-0.139	0.204

The portfolio balance includes a deposit for the acquisition funds of the 2011A Electric Bonds of $17,297,400.00 as of the February 28, 2014 bond fund report balance. As a credit rated investment portfolio of “AA”, we are recognized as a permitted investment by the bond indenture of the above bonds. These funds enjoy the advantage of superior market rates of return in a historically low interest rate environment.

Please note the use of interpolated yield values and total return values are guidelines and not used in the performance evaluation of the portfolio. The investment of public funds is exposed to a large range of variable factors, such as increases or decreases in revenues and expenditures as well as seasonal timing, which can affect the cash flow of the City.

The City’s investment portfolio continues to provide above market rates of return on funds invested as shown in the following graph which shows the City’s net overall performance to a market indicator for the past twelve months:

Source: Treasurer’s Office, Anaheim

The interpolated yield curve value of 0.31% reflects the current market interest rates comparable to the City’s Investment Portfolio average weighted maturity of 1.9 years as of March 31, 2014. As shown, the City’s Investment Portfolio interest earnings were 1.10% for March, a monthly approximate dollar earnings of $277,360 over market interest rates. Cumulative earnings for the City portfolio earnings over market interest rates for the past twelve months are approximately $3,237,903.

A complete listing of the portfolio holdings and investment activity for the City of Anaheim’s Investment Portfolio for the month of March 2014 is on the following pages.

IMPACT ON BUDGET:

There is no budgetary impact. Interest income is allocated in various funds based on the performance of the Investment Portfolio.

Respectfully submitted,

Henry W. Stern, CTP
City Treasurer
